Top of the class for catering

The catering team at Hollygirt School were celebrating after winning a major national award for their catering service to the pupils and for their cooking skills.

The school, on Elm Avenue, was awarded a Silver CAP Award for its high standards of culinary expertise. The CAP (Continuing Advancement Programme) Awards recognise excellence in catering and are regarded as the highest measure of quality and the actual application of good practices.

Hollygirt Head Teacher, Pam Hutley, said, "The catering team were delighted with their award. It's wonderful that the team have gained accreditation to this award. Everyone in the kitchen works incredibly hard to provide the highest quality of food for the pupils at Hollygirt and it's fantastic that this has been recognised in this way."

Ian Jackson, director of the CAP Awards, said that the catering team at Hollygirt were focused on attention to detail. "I was greatly impressed by the standards achieved in the kitchens at Hollygirt and the level of the food being prepared for the pupils. This award is very much well deserved. The quality of school dinners is something that is of great importance to parents and this award is further proof of the excellent experience Hollygirt offers."

During the inspection, the catering standards of the school were scored across all aspects of the service including due diligence, food storage, staff training and the actual pupil meal experience. The organisation of the department and pupil care shone out as examples of best practices being applied.

Hollygirt inspires greatness in its staff and its pupils. They look for every opportunity to celebrate the success of all within their community. So much so that they just launched their new bus campaign which features pupils' artwork. The Hunter which features a tiger on the prow was created by Frances, a former GCSE Art student. The Union Jack Girl artwork was created by Rosie, a current Year 8 pupil at the beginning of the school year.

The new buses went live at the start of April, keep a look out and let us know if you see them around Nottingham. We'd love to hear from you. Please email sightings to info@hollygirt.co.uk.
